Early 20th Century: The Transformation and New Cultural Movements

The End of Imperial China and the Birth of Modern Literature

The early decades of the twentieth century marked the collapse of imperial rule in China, culminating in the fall of the Qing Dynasty in 1912. This political upheaval created fertile ground for new ideas and literary experimentation. Traditional classical Chinese literature, rooted in Confucian values, was increasingly challenged by modernist impulses advocating for vernacular language and new forms of expression. The May Fourth Movement of 1919 was a pivotal moment, emphasizing science, democracy, and cultural renewal, and profoundly influenced literary development.

The Rise of Vernacular Literature

One of the most significant shifts was the move from classical Chinese to vernacular language in literary works.
